Louisville Public Library Goes Mobile with Free App App Available for All Networks and All Phones with Data Plans

LOUISVILLE, CO – October 25, 2012 – The Louisville Public Library has announced the availability of its mobile app through Google Play, Amazon, Apple® iTunes® and the Apple App Store. The ‘Louisville Public Library @ Your Fingertips’ was developed for the Library by Boopsie® (www.boopsie.com), the industry leading mobile solution for universities and libraries worldwide. The app can be used on any network and on any phone with a data plan. With the app, Library users can:

- Check their accounts and renew items
- Search the catalog, place requests, and discover new and recommended books
- Find Library programs and events
- Access Library hours and directions
- Get help via phone or email
- Connect to the Library on its Facebook and Twitter accounts

“We are pleased and excited to be the first library in Boulder County to offer this type of service to our patrons,” said Aimee Schumm, Public Services Supervisor for the Louisville Public Library. “Boopsie has a great reputation in the library technology community, and our collaboration with them has enabled the Louisville Library to deliver mobile capability to its patrons in a timely and cost-effective way.”
